REPORT FROM THE CHAIR

The Law Foundation's most significant achievement in 2010-2011 was consistent support for its grantees despite the decline of its primary source of income resulting from record low interest rates since 2009. The board was pleased to approve twenty four grants totaling $1.5 million.

The Foundation's income is derived primarily from interest earned on lawyers' trust accounts. The prime rate of interest rose from 2.25% in April 2010 to 3% as of March 31, 2011. Trust account revenue totaled $471,558, up from $331,560 for the year ended March 2010. The board authorized a transfer of $700,000 from the Foundation's Reserve Fund to pay grants in 2010-2011, and anticipates additional transfers from the fund to pay grants approved for 2011-2012.

In addition to drawing down reserve funds, the Foundation continued its efforts to renegotiate more favorable agreements with banks for payment of interest on lawyers' trust accounts. We are pleased to report an improved agreement with the Royal Bank.

Our grantees continued to achieve outstanding results this year with diverse programs that provided Nova Scotians with access to legal information and assistance with their legal issues. They supported individuals involved in the criminal justice system, and offered legal education and guidance to youth at risk. Several of our grantees' programs focused on supporting those who are disadvantaged and vulnerable within our society, while others promoted excellence and equality within the legal profession.

Some of our grantees were recognized or rewarded for their achievements. The Elizabeth Fry Society of Mainland Nova Scotia was a finalist in the Donner Awards Program, which recognizes excellence in non-profit management and social service delivery. Of particular note in the youth category is EPIC Society's "Youth Peer and Parents PEACE", an after school program for youth in conflict with the law and support for parents. EPIC was recognized by the Canadian Donner Foundation as the 2010 highest achieving social service agency out of 514 applicant agencies in Canada across all categories.

Barry Waldman accepts the 2010 Donner Foundation Award recognizing EPIC as the highest achieving social service agency.

The Indigenous Blacks and Mi'kmaq (I B & M) Initiative at the Schulich School of Law was honored to receive the 2010 Canadian Bar Association Touchstone Award, recognizing outstanding achievements in promoting equality in the legal community in Canada. This is the first time that the Touchstone Award has been granted to an organization rather than an individual.

Director Michelle Williams-Lorde (right) accepts from Sharon Avery the 2010 CBA Touchstone Award on behalf of the I B & M Initiative.

The Tri-County Restorative Justice Agency will be a presenter at the 14th World Conference of the International Institute for Restorative Practices in June 2011. The Agency will present an overview of its peer-led school program "Bringing Restorative Practices into Schools" that encourages and promotes youth leadership by training them to act as facilitators in restorative justice circles. The Law Foundation was instrumental in the developmental stages of this program by providing project funding during its first three years of operation from 2008-2011.

The Foundation was pleased to host the Annual Meeting of the Association of Canadian Law Foundations from September 30 – October 2, 2010. Foundations from across Canada gathered for three days to discuss issues of mutual concern and future direction. Participants were inspired by a visit to the Halifax Refugee Clinic, which has been a grantee of the Nova Scotia Law Foundation for the past ten years. We were honoured to host Professor Russell Engler of the New England School of Law in Boston, who spoke about evaluating self-help initiatives, and the Honourable Justice Thomas Cromwell of the Supreme Court of Canada, who spoke about the serious problem of access to justice in this country, and the role that the courts and law foundations can play in meeting the challenges.

REPORT FROM THE CHAIR

The year saw two changes to the board. Christine McCulloch, Q.C., Chief Electoral Officer for the Province of Nova Scotia, retired from the board in October 2010, having completed her term as chair the previous February. The Foundation and its grantees owe an enormous debt of gratitude to Christine for her vision, diligence and commitment to the office of chair and the work of the board. Christine has been replaced as board member by George Hudson, C.A., Executive Director of Finance and Administration, Department of Community Services. George brings a unique perspective and skill set to the board.

The year also saw changes to the Trustees of the Law Foundation of Nova Scotia Scholarship Fund. Christine McCulloch was replaced by board member Estelle Theriault, Q.C., and Phillip Saunders, former Dean of the Schulich School of Law, was replaced by Dean Kim Brooks.

The coming year could bring some relief for the Foundation in terms of revenue if interest rates begin to rise as predicted; in the meantime, we remain confident that we are maximizing the impact of the funds available during these challenging times.

I want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to staff and to members of the board for their generous contributions to the work of the Foundation.

Respectfully submitted,

OVERVIEW OF THE FOUNDATION

The Law Foundation of Nova Scotia was established in 1976 by amendment to the Barristers' and Solicitors' Act (now The Legal Profession Act). Its central purpose is to receive and distribute interest earned on lawyers' pooled trust accounts in accordance with its mandate.

The objects of the Law Foundation are "to establish and maintain a fund to be used for the examination, research, revision and reform of and public access to the law, legal education, the administration of justice in the Province and other purposes incidental or conducive to or consequential upon the attainment of any such objects."

REVENUE

The Law Foundation's ability to make grants depends on revenue generated primarily from interest on lawyers' pooled trust accounts. The Foundation keeps these funds invested until distribution. Trust account revenue fluctuates with the balances in the trust accounts and particularly with the prime rate of interest.

Trust Account Revenue and Prime Rates 2008-2011

Changes in the prime rate of interest can produce dramatic results. The Foundation has seen its revenue drop from $4 million in 2008 to $331,560 in 2010. The prime rate during that period dropped from an average of 6.09% to 2.29%.

The prime rate was at a record low of 2.25% on April 1, 2010, having remained there since April 2009. Increases in the prime rate in June, July and September brought the rate to 3%, where it stood at the end of the fiscal year on March 31, 2011. As a result of this slight increase, and as a result of the Foundation's new agreement with RBC, Law Foundation revenue rose from $331,560 in 2009 – 2010 to $471,558 in 2010 – 2011.

RESERVE FUND

Fluctuations in the Foundation's income are reflected in the amount of money paid out in grants. A severe decline in the prime rate could force the board to reduce or terminate grants. Because of these fluctuations, the Foundation established a reserve fund in 1986 to be used to maintain regular grants in periods of low interest rates when current income is insufficient to fund these grants. During 2010 – 2011, the board authorized a transfer of $700,000 from the Reserve Fund in order to help grantees survive the downturn. The board expects another transfer from the Reserve Fund will be required to sustain grants during 2011 – 2012.

At the beginning of this fiscal year, the reserve fund had a total cost of $4,456,798 and a market value of $4,810,962. As at March 31, 2011, it had a total cost and market value of $3,962,383 and $4,690,483 respectively. There was an excess of revenue over expenditures totalling $565,464. The main reasons for this excess were the increase in realized capital gains of $354,178 over fiscal 2010 and the unrealized gain on investments of $361,430. Without the unrealized gain, there would have been an excess of revenue over expenditures totalling $204,034.

Revenue and Grants Authorized

GRANTS & GRANTEE PROFILES

Since its creation in 1976, the Foundation has received approximately $36.5 million in revenue from interest on lawyers' trust accounts, and has awarded $34.2 million in grants. More than $2.5 million has also been awarded in scholarships during the past 19 years. These grants and scholarships have promoted improvements in the law, excellence within the profession, and have helped more than 250 organizations make the law more understandable and accessible to the public.

The Foundation awarded continuing program grants totaling $1,549,080 in 2010 – 2011. No new grants were awarded and there were no project grants.

CONTINUING PROGRAM GRANTS ACCORDING TO MANDATE

Continuing program grants are categorized according to the Foundation's four mandated objectives. Activities of many of the funded organizations fall under more than one of the objectives.

LAW FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The Foundation established a trust fund in 1981 with an initial grant of $200,000 to provide scholarships to students attending Dalhousie Law School (Schulich School of Law at Dalhousie University). There have been several contributions by the Law Foundation to the fund over the years. The fund provides scholarships for students entering first year, renewable in second and third years. These undergraduate scholarships were valued at $16,000 for the academic year commencing September 2010. The fund also provides fellowships at the graduate level.

This year's scholarship recipients include Genevieve Crush (left), Cassandra Armsworthy, Matthew Murphy, Catherine Sykes, Micah Goldstein and Jennifer Huygen. The other recipients are Nicholas Lenehan, Skye Friesen and Michael Elliot.

The 2010 – 2011 Law Foundation Scholarships included four entrance scholarships, and a total of four second-year and third-year scholarships. One graduate fellowship was awarded. Scholarship payments for the year amounted to $148,000.

FUNDING GUIDELINES AND APPLICATION PROCEDURES

The board strives to be accountable in the distribution of funds received by the Foundation from interest accruing on lawyers' pooled trust accounts. The board endeavours to be transparent and consistent in its evaluation of applications. It takes into consideration where programs will operate and who will benefit from them, as well as whether they fit within the Foundation's mandate. Accountability extends to the careful assessment and consistent monitoring of programs that receive funding.

Information concerning the Foundation's funding guidelines and grant application procedure may be obtained by contacting the executive director, or by visiting the Foundation's website at www.nslawfd.ca.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF THE LAW FOUNDATION OF NOVA SCOTIA

The accompanying summarized statements of financial position and operations are derived from the complete financial statements of the Law Foundation of Nova Scotia as at March 31, 2011 for the year then ended. In our independent auditor's report on the complete financial statements dated June 3, 2011, we expressed a qualified opinion because we were unable to satisfy ourselves concerning the completeness of the interest credited by financial institutions on Nova Scotia Barristers' Society members' mixed trust funds. The fair summarization of the complete financial statements is the responsibility of management. Our responsibility, in accordance with the applicable Assurance Guideline of The Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, is to report on the summarized financial statements.

In our opinion, except for the effect of the adjustments, if any, had interest credited by financial institutions been susceptible to complete audit verification, the accompanying financial statements fairly summarize, in all material respects, the related complete financial statements in accordance with the criteria described in the Guideline referred to above.

These summarized financial statements do not contain all the disclosures required by Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. Readers are cautioned that these statements may not be appropriate for their purposes. For more information on the Foundation's financial position, results of operations, changes in fund balances and cash flows, reference should be made to the related complete financial statements.

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the Law Foundation of Nova Scotia, which comprise the statement of financial position as at March 31, 2011, and the statement of operations, statement of changes in net assets for the general and restricted fund and statement of cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's responsibility for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion.

Basis for qualified opinion

The Law Foundation of Nova Scotia derives substantially all of its revenue from interest credited by financial institutions of Nova Scotia Barristers' Society members' mixed trust funds which is not susceptible to complete audit verification. Accordingly, our verification of revenue from this source was limited to accounting for the amounts received from financial institutions and recorded in the records of the Law Foundation of Nova Scotia.

Qualified opinion

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion paragraph, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Law Foundation of Nova Scotia as at March 31, 2011, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

Other matter

The financial statements of the Law Foundation of Nova Scotia for the year ended March 31, 2010, were audited by another auditor who expressed a qualified opinion on those statements on April 22, 2010, for the same reason as is reported in the current year.
